S7: We are to operate from an abundance mindset versus a scarcity mindset.

An abundant mindset is the belief that opportunities are everywhere therefore we do not get obsessed over on opportunity or when we miss it.

In this mindset, you operate out of courage and certainty of yourself and not fear. Fear is a scarcity mindset and it the mental chatter goes something like this,

“If I don’t invest in this opportunity, there will never be another opportunity as good as this. Let me invest all that I have”

That sort of mindset closes up your mind to other opportunities that may just be sitting in plain sight. It also makes you invest irrationally.

An abundance mindset fortifies the mind regardless of the economic situation. Even in the “toughest” of economic times, you will stand resilient and spot opportunities.
